

Job Posting: Clinical Endocrinologist with Expertise in Medical Weight Management

The Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism in the Department of Medicine at UC San Diego is seeking a board-certified/board-eligible endocrinologist with special expertise in medical weight management to join our dynamic and growing team.

Position Description:

The successful candidate will have the opportunity to engage in:

- Direct Patient Care: Provide high-quality clinical care in endocrinology, with a focus on medical weight management.
- Medical Education: Participate in the training and mentorship of medical students, residents, and fellows as part of UCSD's academic mission.
- Research and Scholarly Activity: Opportunities for clinical research, quality improvement initiatives, and scholarly activity are available, with strong institutional support for career development.

Rank and Salary:

This position is open at the Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor level, based on qualifications and experience. The candidate will be expected to contribute to our academic mission, with rank and salary commensurate with the candidate's background and accomplishments.

Qualifications:

- MD or equivalent degree with board certification/eligibility in Endocrinology.
- Demonstrated clinical expertise in medical weight management.
- Commitment to excellence in patient care, education, and academic scholarship.
- A track record of or potential for scholarly and research contributions is preferred.

About UCSD Endocrinology:

The Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism is nationally recognized for its clinical and research excellence. Our weight management program provides multidisciplinary care with opportunities for innovative approaches to patient treatment and research collaborations across disciplines.

Application Instructions:

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of clinical, educational, and research interests through UCSD's recruitment portal:
